As a bank of deposite, it was authorized to receive de posites not only for safe-keeping, to be returned when de-manded by the depositor, but to be used and loaned out or the benefit of the institution, care being taken always to be provided with the means of returning an equal amount when demanded. As a bank of discount and cir-culation, it issued its notes in the faith of its capital (government) stock and deposites, or discounted bills of ex change and promissory notes responsibly endorsed, charging an interest something greater than was authorized by law to be charged on loans, and thus allowing it for the use of its credit, a higher rate of compensation than individuals were authorized to receive for the use and Fazard of money or capital loaned out. The Bank took, in the shape of a promissory note, the credit of an individual so good that another equally responsible endorsed his note for nothing, and gave out its credit in the form of a bank note, the transaction being obviously but a mere exchange of credits. Such were the extraordinary advantages of this institution, of which it had an exclualva monopoly; and it is not surprising that from 1694, when the Bank of England was established, to 1797, when it first suspended, it had increased its capital and its action from £1,200,000 to £11,000,000—from six to fifty-five millions of dollars.

It made these profits on an egregious popular delusion Its notes were universally regarded as representing gold and silver, and as depending on that representation ex-clusively for their circulation; as much so as did the ertificates of deposite in the original Bank of Amsterdam. No one supposed that they could retain their credit for a moment after they ceased to be convertible into the metals on demand; nor were they supposed to have the effect of increasing the aggregate volume of the currency, and thereby of increasing prices. They were as completely identified in the popular mind with the metallic currency as if every note in circulation had laid up in the vaults of the bank an equal amount, pound for pound, into which all its paper could be converted the moment it was presented. All this was a delusion. The issues of the Bank of England never did represent, from the first, the precious metals. Instead of the representation, its notes were in reality the substitute for coin. Instead of being the mere drudges, performing all the out-door service, while the coins reposed at their ease in the vaults of the bank, free from wear and tear, and the hazard of loss or destruction, as did the certificates of deposite in the original Bank of Amsterdam, they substituted, degraded, and banished the coins. Every note circulated became the substitute of so much coin, and dispensed with it in circulation, and thereby depreciated the value of the precious metals, and increased their consumption in the same proportion; while it diminished in the same degree the supply by rendering mining less profitable. The sys-tem assumed gold and silver as the basis of its circula-tion; and yet, by the laws of its nature, just as it increased its circulation, in the same degree the foundation on which it stood weakened, crumbled, and vanished. Thus the germ of destruction was implanted in the sys tem at its birth, has expanded with its growth, and must terminate finally in its dissolution. The conflict between bank circulation and metallic is mortal; one or the other must perish in the struggle. Such is the decree of fate-

THE NEGRO VOTE OF OHIO.

The negro vote of Ohio is variously estimated at from 1,200 to 1,500. In this county they range from 150 to 250. In Lorain they count about 150. Over 100 voted in Oberlin whose names are regularly registered and cha lenged by the democrats. In Lake, Geanga, and Ashtabula all vote, without a why or wherefore. It is safe to put down the negro vote in the Reserve at from 500 to But comparatively few of our black population inhabit the Reserve. The great body of them live in the southern part of the State, in the counties of Ross, Highland, Galia, Brown, Franklin, and Hamilton. How many are allowed to vote in these regions remains to be known. There are between fifteen and twenty thousand free blacks in the State, all anxious to vote, and who the republicans declare have a right to vote, and shall vote. It is safe to say that, take the State through, one in ten does cote. The proportion is much greater in republican counties, and the question is, what shall be done with this vote? They are cast in violation of law. The democratic party oppose their going into the ballot-box. They, of course, will favor their coming out.

From the Atlanta (Ga.) Intelligencer of the 19th DEMOCRATIC JUBILEE IN OGLETHORPE COUNTY. On to-morrow night we see it stated in the Constitunat the democracy of Oglethorpe intend celebrating the late glorious victory in that county and in the State at large by a torch-light procession &c., in Lexington. On the interesting occasion the Hon. Robert Toombs and the Hon. A. H. Stephens will both speak, and a cordial invitation has been extended to the democracy generally of the State to be present and participate in the festival.

We regret that we cannot be in Lexington and join the gallant democracy of Oglethorpe in celebrating their victory. We know of but one county in the State where the "iron ribbed" democracy had as hard a contest, and where was achieved a victory that will compare with the one that was achieved in good old Oglethorpe. Well, then, may our friends in that county rejoice, and well may our gallant Senator Toombs, and their distinguished representative, Stephens, speak to them, on to-morrow night, wor of praise and encouragement. In their triumph over the memy the democracy of Oglethorpe have won for themselves an imperishable renown. Manfully did they main tain against severe odds principles dear to every demo-erat, and gloriously did they triumph. One hundred cheers for old Oglethorpe!

John T. Gilman, editor of the Bath Organ, Maine, says, after extensive travelling in both regions, that more corn, wheat, beans, peas, buckwheat, barley, potatoes, &c., are raised to the acre in the East than in the West. &c., are raised to the acre in the East than in the desired the raising requires more labor in the eastern States, but more attention is paid to fertilizing.

The value of the exports from New York, for the week ending on Monday night, was two million one hundred and thirty-two thousand dollars, which the Courier says exceeds, by a large sum, the value of exports for any previous week in 1857. The weekly value of exports during the spring and summer was from eight hundred to twelve hundred thousand dollars. The increase in the quantity of goods exported is still greater, as prices now rule much lower.

The Boston Theatre, which ranks along with the Philadelphia and New York Academies of Music in extent and beauty, is to be sold for debt. The entire cost of the ground and building, with furniture and appointments of all kinds, was $416,385, and the debt upon it is $205,-000. There is now due for interest the sum of $15,000. On Friday a very animated meeting of the stockholders was held, at which it was resolved to offer the whole property at public sale, provided it would bring $210,-000.

The three black-republican papers in Dubuque, Iowa, are to be formed into one. The Republican and Whig, at Quincy, Illinois, were also to be joined in one, and the St. Paul Times and Minnesotian are likely to follow suit won. In Philadelphia the Times and Sun have been merged in one paper.

HEREDON FUND ASSOCIATION.—At a meeting of a number of ladies and gentlemen, held at the Mechanics' Institute, (Mr. Corcoran's building, on H, near 13th street,) yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of initiating measures for the benefit of the widow and daughter of the late gallant and lamented Commander Herndon, the following preamble and resolutions were submitted:

preamble and resolutions were submitted:

Whereas it is represented that efforts are being made in various parts of the United States to raise funds to be invested for the joint use of Mrs. Elizabeth H. Herndon and Miss Ellen L. Herndon, wife and daughter of the late Commander W. L. Herndon, as a testimonial of their appreciation of his noble and heroic exertions "in rescuing the women and children" on board the Central America, therefore it is deemed advisable to establish in this city an association to concentrate the efforts thus being made to raise the funds and to invest the same—

Resolved, That Mrs. Mayor Magruder, Mrs. H. C. W. Shubrick, Mrs. M. Shubrick Clymer, Mrs. Mary H. Wilkes, Mrs. B. Page, Mrs. John W. Maury, Mrs. Aulick, Mrs. L. M. Goldsborough, Mrs. George C. Charles H. Hall, Mrs. Col. Abert, Mrs. Col. Irwin, Mrs. W. W. Scaton, and such other ladies as may enroll their names in the books to be opened for that purpose, and the payment of one dollar, do hereby constitute themselves an association, to be known as the "Herndon Fund Association," the object of which is to raise funds in this city and to receive donations from other localities in the United States, and eventually to invest the same accord-nited States, and eventually to invest the same grot the above recited preamble.

Resolved, That Mrs. Sarah Mageuder be, and she is creby, appointed president of this association.

Resolved, That Mrs. Jefferson Page and Mrs. Captain loidsborough are appointed vice presidents.

Resolved, That Mrs. Capt. Almy and Mrs. Dr. Clymer

Resolved, That Mrs. Capt. Almy and Mrs. Dr. Clymer are appointed secretaries.

Resolved, That Mr. George W. Riggs be, and he is hereby, appointed treasurer to the association.

Resolved, That the presidents and vice presidents are appointed a committee of correspondence; and that they are requested to issue circulars, and invite the co-operation of the women of America to assist us in demonstrating our gratitude.

Resolved, That the editors of the United States be remested to give publicity to the proceedings of this meet-

Col. Irwin urged the adoption of the resolutions in w remarks, of which the following is a report :

LADIES: The sad occasion which has brought us to labins: The sad occasion which has brought us to-gether is too overpowering for words. The heart is too full to give utterance to feelings so affecting. Tears, and not thoughts, are the only messengers that come at my bidding, and tears the only relief which my heart can re-ceive when brooding over this dreadful calamity. When I think of the heroic devotion and perfect abandonment of self of the gallant Herndon on that trying occasion, my imagination makes him a martyr to duty and to chivalry. He stands out in bold relief a hero and example to his countrymen, whose memory should be held in the highest respect, and whose gallant conduct should be emblazoned on tablets durable as time. When the tempest was howling around, and the occan, lashed to madness by the fury of the storm, was yawning to receive its victims, the order was given by the noble commander, to "save the women and children!" Brave man! these words have conscrated your memory in the hearts of this mighty people, and your name will go down to posterity with imperishable glory.

Having determined "never to desert his ship," and having done all that man could do without success, his mind lingers a moment on his own loved home, upon his dear wife and daughter. "Take this watch to my dear wife not appear to the intensity of this brave man's feelings when sending this "last memento" to one he

But why dwell on the sad events of that terrible cates-But why dwell on the sad events of that terrible catastrophe; why bring fresh tears to eyes that have wept for the lost and the loved? Let the women of America show their appreciation of the noble and heroic Herndon, his officers and crew, and you will do justice to your generous natures, and establish for yourselves that deep devotion which a true man must ever feel for helpless women. It is not, my fair countrywomen, the amount of money you may give, or the monuments you may raise for brave actions, that will secure the heroic devotion from man to your sex which your virtues so eminently deserve; but it is your approbation, which makes heroes of us all, and nerves us to dare and to do all things possible to deserve your favor and consideration.

Mayor Magruder addressed the meeting at some length, urging the adoption of the resolutions upon the ground rging the adoption of the resolutions upon the ground the effect such a demonstration would have in nerving the mariner to acts of heroism and daring, by letting him feel that his actions would redound to the interest of his family, that he would feel that whatever might be his fate his wife and little ones would be cared for.

The preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopt d, and the meeting adjourned.

THE PRESETTERIAN SYNOD OF VIRGINIA met again yes-erday morning at 9 o'clock. The first half hour was assed in devotional exercises.

Rev. Dr. Smith presented an extract from the minutes f the synod of Tennessee, in relation to transferring that ody to the synod of Virginia; which was read. The synod of Tennessee were averse to the proposed transfer.

Statistical reports were then made from the representa tives of the various churches of the synod. Among them was one from the Presbytery of the District of Columbia, in which it was stated that it consisted of thirteen ministers, who had under their care thirteen churches and two licentiates. It was also reported that the pastoral Church, Alexandria, had been dissolved, and that Rev James D. Thomas had been licensed to preach.

It was determined by vote that the next place of meetng should be Portsmouth, Virginia, on the third Monday in October, 1858. The 26th day of November next, or any other day set apart by the civil authorities as a day of thanks giving, was set aside by the synod as a day of fasting and prayer. The last Thursday in February next was set apart as a day of prayer by the united Presbytery for the various colleges and institutions of learning within the limits of the synod. MONUMENTS .- Mr. William Rutherford (E street north,

Mosting of the Missouri Logislature

Moning of the Missouri Legislature.

St. Louis, Oct. 21.—The senate organized yesterday by electing Benjamin F. Hesser secretary. Gov. Jackson's message, in referring to the deterioration of the State credit, and the check given to its railroad system by the monetary crisis, recommends the legislature to take decisive measures to secure beyond all question the honor and credit of the State. He desired such an amendment to the railroad system as will enable the companies to secure their work done, and to ultimately complete their roads. He also proposes to place such additional guards upon the banking system as will confine it within its legitimate limits, and tend to expel depreciated paper from the State. In order to accomplish this, the governor advises that no more State bonds be issued; that a tax be levied to cover the whole amount of the interest on the bonds of the State, and that the State have representation in the different boards of directors in proportion to the amount of bonds issued to the roads; the bonds of the State to be in future disposed of by an agent appointed by the executive, and the proceeds to be delivered to the officers of the companies; that the board of public works be empowered to penetrate into the details of the management of the roads; that one of the banks of St. Louis be made a clearing house, and that whenever any bank failed to redeem its circulation at the clearing house, the bank commissioner shall close it in accordance with existing law. The governor contends that legislation in regard to bank suspension can only result in producing greater difficulties than those it is intended to alleviate, and believes that whenever a private banker or broker suspends his assets should be placed in the hands of trustees for equitable distribution among his creditors.

The amount of State bonds due from the rallway corpanies was, on the 13th of October, $9,000,000.

Gov. Stewart will probably be inaugurated to-day.

Naw Greans, Oct. 20.—The city is financially more gloomy to-day, and many are in favor of a suspension of the banks as the only relief. A sullen and bad feeling prevails. There is nothing definite regarding the banks but most of them are weak.
